To Whom It May Concern:

FlyLevel organised one of our corporate outing events in July 2008. Our employees who attended the event greatly enjoyed all the activities prepared and coordinated by the organisers: the usual sports facilities like areas for volleyball, football and tennis, and of course the main activity of the event - flying light aircraft with instructors. The latter was an extraordinary experience for our people (first time ever for the vast majority!), so the overall impression was very, very good. This is not to mention the catering which during the entire day was very well organised, good outdoor music arrangements and acoustic equipment (for internal presentations), and of course the attention and responsiveness of the assisting staff of FlyLevel.

We would certainly do it again with Flylevel and heartfully recommend to others!
